LONGSTANDING

Avalon kitchen furniture is proudly manufactured in the UK by JJO plc. We are a family business, established in 1868 focused upon the present and the future. Operating from a modern production facility in East Lancashire, covering over 1.2 million square feet, we are a true manufacturer employing over 300 staff. Our heritage guides our culture, which defines the way we produce excellent furniture.

Over two thirds of the shares of the business are within an employment ownership trust, essentially meaning that the staff own the majority of the business, with the balance remaining in the guiding hands of the original family ownership. This true partnership ensures a greater level of engagement throughout the business ensuring continuous improvement.

Pride in our people is coupled with a real focus upon our retail partners. Avalon Kitchen furniture is only available through a network of selected independent retailers. This is a long-standing conscious decision, ensuring our furniture is presented and sold by passionate like-minded kitchen retailers, who excel within their areas of expertise.

MANUFACTURING

There are many spurious claims of environmental awareness from manufacturers and organisations as the pressure on preserving natural resources rightly becomes crucial. How many businesses and manufacturers can demonstrate without doubt they are committed to reducing their carbon footprint and have won awards for their achievements to date?
JJO plc recognised many years ago there are tangible benefits to manufacturing responsibly.

Amongst the many awards won in recognition of our environmental approach, includes the "Green Apple Environmental Award" presented at the Houses of Parliament as far back as 2009, before many of our competitors embraced their responsibilities. To further endorse our environmental achievements, we have been audited and accredited with the ISO14001.
Purchasing Avalon Kitchen Furniture ensures you are acting responsibly.
